Podcast Launch

A bit about our "Between the Lines" podcast...

Books will be read and reviewed from all genres (including junior). The podcast is broken up into 2 parts. In the first, first impressions are discussed (ie. cover, initial thoughts, etc) and then the first half of the book is read. What was liked, not liked, predictions, etc. Then the 2nd half of the book is read and discussed-if it was what we expected, any surprises, etc. ...

The plan is to release one episode every other week with the first episode going live on Tuesday September 6.

Find the first episode on our YouTube Channel @ South Central Regional Library

The True Story of a Woman, Her Horse, and Their Last-Chance Journey Across America

By Elizabeth Letts
Adult Non-Fiction

Reviewed by Dorothy from the Morden Branch

Imagine it's 1954, you've lost your farm, have no family, and have just been told you have only two years left to live.

The Ride of Her Life is the true story of 63 year old Annie Wilkins who lived that life. With only two years left to live, she decided that she wanted to see the Pacific Ocean before she died. Having no money however, she grew and sold a crop of cucumbers to help earn enough to purchase on old cast-off horse named Tarzan.

Annie set off from her home in Maine in mid-November with one plan, to ride her horse south to California, taking along her dog Depeche Toi. She had no maps to plan her trip but relied on the kindness of strangers for places to sleep along the way and help to direct her to the best local roads.

Using Annie's diaries, newspaper clippings from the various communities she passed through, and speaking with families that met Annie, author Elizabeth Letts has related this amazing story in a truly inspiring way.

I would rate this book 5 out of 5.
