BOOK SALE

Before You Donate

Please check that your donations are in good shape – no missing pages or covers, damage (including water damage), mold, or smells. We can't use or sell items that are in poor shape, so please recycle or throw away items that are damaged or smelly.

Think of it this way...would you want it in your house? If not, why would anyone else want it?

Some things sell well at the book sale, and some don't. We appreciate the time you take to sort your donations. It saves us and our volunteers a lot of time and effort.

We're glad you thought of donating your books and other items to us.

All five branches of South Central Regional Library accept donations of books, DVDs, and CDs.

If we decide your donations could be a useful part of the library collection (either as new additions or replacements of lost or damaged items), we'll add them to the shelf.

Otherwise, we'll sell them one of our community book sales to raise money for buying new books for the branches.

We accept donations year-round. You can also watch our Facebook and Instagram pages for donation requests when we are close to having a book sale in 1 of our 5 communities.
